DAN BUKOWSKI JOINS QUANTITATIVE SERVICES GROUP LLC
Industry Veteran to Lead the Firm's Equity Research and Trading Analytics Efforts.

Naperville – March 25, 2008 — Quantitative Services Group LLC (QSG®) announced today that Dan Bukowski has joined the firm as Director of Research. In his new role, Bukowski will lead the analyst teams responsible for QSG's equity research, systematic stock-selection models and trading analysis products.

Bukowski has more than 20 years of experience in the quantitative finance industry. He served Citigroup Asset Management in New York for eight years in roles managing investment teams around the globe. Ultimately, Bukowski was CIO of Global Equities, managing teams responsible for portfolio management, fundamental research, quantitative research, asset allocation and trading. Prior to joining Citigroup, Bukowski was Director of Quantitative Research for Zurich Kemper Investments and held similar roles at IDS Financial Services and Morgan Stanley Investment Management.

"Dan brings a unique mix of experience, expertise and leadership to QSG. His global investment perspective and technical understanding will enhance all of our offerings," said Tim Sargent, QSG President. "Dan understands our value, appropriateness and opportunities to enhance the techniques we employ. I'm confident that he will lead our talented analysts through new frontiers as we identify powerful new investment signals for our clients."

In the near term, Bukowski will focus on validating QSG's new specialty data sets, new industry specific models and alpha-based trading research.

"I have always had a deep respect for QSG and the value that its services provide to our community. I am thrilled to join a group of professionals with such a high level of integrity, motivation and intellectual curiosity," said Bukowski. "I am looking forward to playing a significant role in QSG's evolution."

Bukowski sits on the Investment Advisory Board of the New York State Teachers' Retirement System and was a founding board member of the Chicago Quantitative Alliance. He also serves on the President's Board of UCAN, an organization in Chicago serving at-risk youth and their families. Bukowski earned a BA and MBA from the University of Chicago.
